

Third-Party Credit Analysis (Gimme Credit)

Since credit unions cannot rely strictly on rating agencies in determining the creditworthiness of investments, they must perform their own analysis or use an independent third-party. Fill that void with Gimme Credit.

This independent, high-quality credit research tool will allow your credit union to better manage and systematically monitor the credit risk associated with corporate debt investments.

This capability also increases the investment universe by providing greater portfolio diversification, income and total return opportunities. Last but not least, Gimme Credit will also grant you the necessary credit analysis and oversight mandated by examiners and regulators.

Save Money

Determine the creditworthiness of investments with this third-party credit analysis tool, available to credit unions like yours free of charge by Alloya Investment Services.

Expand Access

This tool increases the investment universe by providing greater portfolio diversification, income and total return opportunities.

Find Peace of Mind

Not to be overlooked, Gimme Credit also provides the necessary credit analysis and oversight now mandated by examiners and regulators.